

Special Agent
By Oliver Loveday

Being a special agent for 23 years,
Such hard work, thank god for beers.
Besides working, I have many hobbies,
Such as eating donuts in hotel lobbies.
My job is to keep people safe at night,
My job is tough, but it's worth the fight.
I've seen the craziest things in San Jose ,
The criminals are who have to pay.
No matter how hard they're hidden, I'll always find the drugs,
Why people continue to try me? I don't know, it tends to bug.
I've once seen drugs right next to a child,
Some parents these days, oh so wild.
At the end of the day if everyone's protected,
Then I know I did my job, which is always expected.
